

1989 Philip Noel Baker Research Award Presented

The 1989 Philip Noel Baker Research Award was conferred upon Dr. Jan Borms, Professor at the Free University of Brussels. Dr. Borms was distinguished for his outstanding scientific achievements in the field of kinanthropometry and for his continuous active services to ICSSPE. In his capacity as the long standing Secretary General of ICSSPE's former Research Committee he coordinated and developed the Committee's work, initiated and organized numerous scientific conferences, and carried out pioneer work in the setting-up of various specialized working groups, especially of the International Working Group of Kinanthropometry (IWGK). He was the first President of IWGK's successor organization, the International Society for the Advancement of Kinanthropometry (ISAK), which holds a Committee status with ICSSPE. The Award was presented to Dr. Borms by Dr. Ernst Joki, Chairman of the Award Commission, on 27 April 1989 in Leuven/Belgium, on the occasion of the XIVth Meeting of the European Group of Pediatric Work Physiology.
